

DISKURS

Diskurs, "Midnight Sun", Berlin, 2016
Led strips, aluminium profiles, iron wire. 12 x 2.80 x 2,.60 m.

Light installation created for DISKURS project space in Berlin. Lines on the outside of the building are like a pattern repeated inside the exhibition space. These rows of horizontal light lines are as wide as the window frame of the space itself and redefine the proportions.

The installation is an obstacle for visitors to enter the exhibition space. They have to make decisions how to move through the space.
