

V Art Center Building 3 Room 201

V Art center Solar Plexus, My people project, Shanghai 2012
16 x 4,40 x 0,40 m. white plexiglas tubes

PETER VINK

The round factory lamps hanging in V Art Centre were my starting point to build this installation.

I wanted to capture the light that was being omitted from the hanging lamps.

The downward trajectory of the lights where visualized using plexiglass and fluorescent lamps to create glowing columns which reflected the existing structural characteristics of the space.

As a side note, the translation of "Lantern" in Chinese literary means "caged light" 灯笼, pinyin: deng long.

